SHOW OF MENACE

Hardly a day passes in Berlin without a new show of menace by the Russians. Sometimes it takes the form of disorderly conduct—firing at a public meeting, kidnapping policemen, breaking up a city council meeting. Sometimes it is a clearly implied threat to use violence.

But in every instance—so far—the Russians have been careful not to follow through to the point where they might start a war.

Their latest implied threat is a denunciation of the four-power regulations for air safety in Berlin and the 20-mile-wide air corridors leading to Berlin. These regulations are "absolutely invalid," Russia says, on the technical ground that the Allied Control Council has not formally confirmed them. Therefore the implication is Russia can do as she pleases in the air. She will not be responsible for any incidents that result.

This is a complete reversal of the Russian position in July and August. In both those months she charged that western airtight planes were violating the same safety regulations she now calls invalid. But her purpose is the same now as it was then—to make the West afraid that Russia will "accidentally" cause a number of the airtight planes to crash.

But a new intention shows through. This time Russia demands the right to make air safety regulations of her own and impose them on the other three occupying powers in Berlin. As the four-power Allied Control Council certainly would not confirm that, it would seem "absolutely invalid" even by Russia's own logic. But it is not logic Russia is interested in. It is power.

This new demand for control of air traffic over Berlin and the corridors first cropped up as an added Russian demand after Stalin had agreed in Moscow to terms for settling the Berlin dispute. At that time it didn't occur to Russia to protest that the air regulations all four powers tried to observe were invalid.

But now the Kremlin is hinting that it may try to seize control of air traffic by force. It may be bluffing again, though.

Inside Your Congress

Eisenhower
—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

A man who refuses to be President of the United States when he could have been elected on either ticket is worth listening to. There are not many! That man is Eisenhower. And when such a man assumes the presidency of a great university, he is certain to express the basic thinking of his lifetime.

Eisenhower's address on his inauguration as head of Columbia University on October 12, was drowned out by the noise of smaller men. Only a few paragraphs were reported. It should be read widely, especially in our schools and colleges. It was the voice of an American.

Whether the turn of the political wheel again call on him to assume public office, I do not know. But he is in a strategic position today. For, it is in our colleges that a higher percentage of radicals are gnawing at the foundations of American freedom than in any other place. For example, in a New Hampshire college town—with a tax-supported college, at that—out of 60 persons who endorsed Henry A. Wallace, 23 were members of the college faculty.

But here are words from the man who commanded our youth on blood-soaked soil. As he spoke, the General must have had in mind those who made the final sacrifice that their countrymen might be free.

"In today's struggle, no free man, no free institution can be neutral. Government ownership or control of property is not to be decried principally because of the historic inefficiency of government management of productive enterprises; its real threat rests in the fact that the final concentration of ownership in the hands of government gives to it, in all practical effects, absolute power over our lives."

"When shallow critics denounce the profit motive inherent in our system of private enterprise, they ignore the fact that it is an economic support of every human right we possess and that without it, all rights would soon disappear."

"Macaulay, the English historian wrote in 1857: 'Either some Caesar or Napoleon will seize the reins of government with a strong hand; or your republic will be as fearfully plundered and laid waste by barbarians in the twentieth century as the Roman Empire was in the fifth; with this difference, that the Huns and Vandals who ravaged the Roman Empire came from without and that your Huns and Vandals will have been engendered within your own country by your own institutions.'"

"From the school at the crossroads to a university as great as Columbia, general education for citizenship must be the common and first purpose of them all."

"The teacher must support the sum total of the principles which, among other things, guarantees freedom for all."

If you want to know something about this man when he was a boy, read "Personal Episode," reprinted from Guideposts in the October issue of Reader's Digest.

Here is a standard for our teachers who would preserve that free world and hallowed word—AMERICA!

Says Truck Patch Is Now A "No Man's Land"

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 2—Mentioned in a hearing in equity at Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County at the end of the week were such items as bullet-scarred scallion tops, radishes shot full of holes, etc.

The case is that of Joseph Digrolamo, Bensalem township trucker, against the Philadelphia Gun Club, against whom on May 3, 1948, the court granted a preliminary injunction.

Digrolamo contends that a six-acre tract of his 22 acres along the Delaware river, adjacent to the Philadelphia Gun Club, is virtually a "no man's land," when the gun club stages its weekly shoots.

The trucker testified before Judge Calvin S. Boyer, at the final hearing in attempt to make the injunction permanent, that he often had to hurry away from the section of his farm in which he was working as the bullets fell, during the trap-shooting matches.

Digrolamo told Judge Boyer that his scallion tops were riddled with holes and that radishes and other vegetables were damaged.

The Philadelphia Gun Club has been operating for many years at the same site. Action against them was taken on May 3, 1948.

Trenton Contest Winds Up Aeromodelers Season

Members of the Aeromodelers competed in the New Jersey State model contest, Sunday, at Trenton, N. J. This marked the wind-up of a successful competitive season for the club.

Although several members flew models in the various events, only one trophy was won. Thomas Spitzo carried home second prize in the Class C junior speed event.

The weather was excellent, and hundreds of contestants from many states were there to compete. Thomas Spitzo won recognition for being the outstanding junior contest flier of the season, having won six prizes this year. His ability to turn in winning flights has been attributed largely to the great amount of practice flying he has done prior to each contest.

Those who entered models in the junior events were Thomas Spitzo, Perry Carter, Warren McQuaid, William Kopak and Thomas Pearson.

James Van Sant, Jr., was the only senior age member who entered. In the open age event, Harry Brown and Clarence Wells entered.

Top speeds in the junior events were: Thomas Spitzo, Class C, 60 miles per hour; and Class B, 72 miles per hour. In the senior age event, James Van Sant, Class B, 100 miles per hour; and Class D, 97 miles per hour. In open age events, Clarence Wells, Class A, 75 miles per hour, and Class B, 85 miles per hour.

Most of the junior members were competing with models that were not practice flown. It has been stressed by the more experienced club leaders that practice flying is an essential step towards winning a model meet. The members who have won prizes this season were those who practiced as a group all during the winter. "It is impossible to practice speed flying at a model contest," they state.

Already the club is planning to turn out as a group on week-ends whenever the weather permits for practice flying. This will be possible only if the club is able to obtain a suitable field.

Twenty-three prizes have been won this season. Seven were won in junior events, five in combined age events, and one in an open age event. At the beginning of the season the club had only six experienced model fliers, now the club has 29 who have successfully flown powered models.

If the club is able to find a suitable flying site, and weather permitting, members will turn out on Sunday for a flying session.

Bracken Post Makes Available Burial Places

Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 282, American Legion, is gratified that the families of some of the War Dead of World War No. 2 have taken advantage of the Post's offer to use the ground adjacent to the American Legion Memorial Monument at the Bristol Cemetery, for the reburial of the bodies of their honored war dead.

Those now re-buried there are Charles A. Reeves and Leonard Bobbs. A stone has also been placed for Joseph Ellis, Jr., whose body was never recovered, he having been lost at sea.

The Bracken Post advises the families of all service men and women, whose bodies are being returned to Bristol and vicinity, that this ground for re-burial is free to them. "The Bracken Post will see that the property is kept in condition," it is stated.

Anyone desiring to take advantage of this offer is requested to contact the chairman of the American Legion Memorial Committee, Harry A. Chapin, or the Post Commander, Lawrence McCoy, for information and instructions as to location of grave, and certain restrictions.

In order to save expense to the families, the Bracken Post has decided that all headstones must be the stones furnished free by the Bucks County Commissioners, and to facilitate the moving of the grass all graves will be flat and only cut flowers will be placed on the graves.

Headstones may be procured from the Bucks County Commissioners—free—and placed in this section, just as if the body is there, of those whose bodies were lost at sea or otherwise never recovered. Those desiring to take advantage of this may secure application blanks for the headstone from the chairman of the Memorial Committee.

The American Legion is dedicated to assist the families of our honored war dead and the Robert W. Bracken Post is happy to be the local representative of the largest Servicemen's organization in the world.

The treatment consists of the application of two percent sodium fluoride to the enamel surface of a tooth "on four occasions within a few years of the eruption of the tooth."

Girl Scouts Arrange Exhibit At Post Office

CROYDON, Nov. 2—To celebrate Girl Scout Week the Girl Scout Troop 7, of Croydon, has arranged an exhibit in Croydon post office window. Each article on display has been made by a Scout in order to earn her proficiency badge. The Scout program consists of fields of interest, all of which are represented in the display. They are as follows: Agriculture, arts and crafts, community life, health and safety, home-making, international friendship, literature and dramatics, music and dancing, nature, out-of-doors, and sports and games.

This exhibit is centered around the theme of "International Friendship," arranged with the three branches of Scouting, the brownies, intermediates and senior groups, and two foreign Scouts standing on a large gold trefail.

The girls invite all to see the display.

Scout Troop 7 held a masked party at the Boy Scout Cabin, with 55 attending. Guests included Girl Scout Mothers' Auxiliary, many mothers of the girls, the Scouts and their leaders. Mothers and girls took part in many games and contests, with prizes awarded the winners. Mae Edwards and Adelaide Clark received prizes for costumes, the only two who were so thoroughly disguised they could not be guessed. Refreshments were served.

DREAM HOUSE on a BUDGET

By Marion Clyde McCarroll

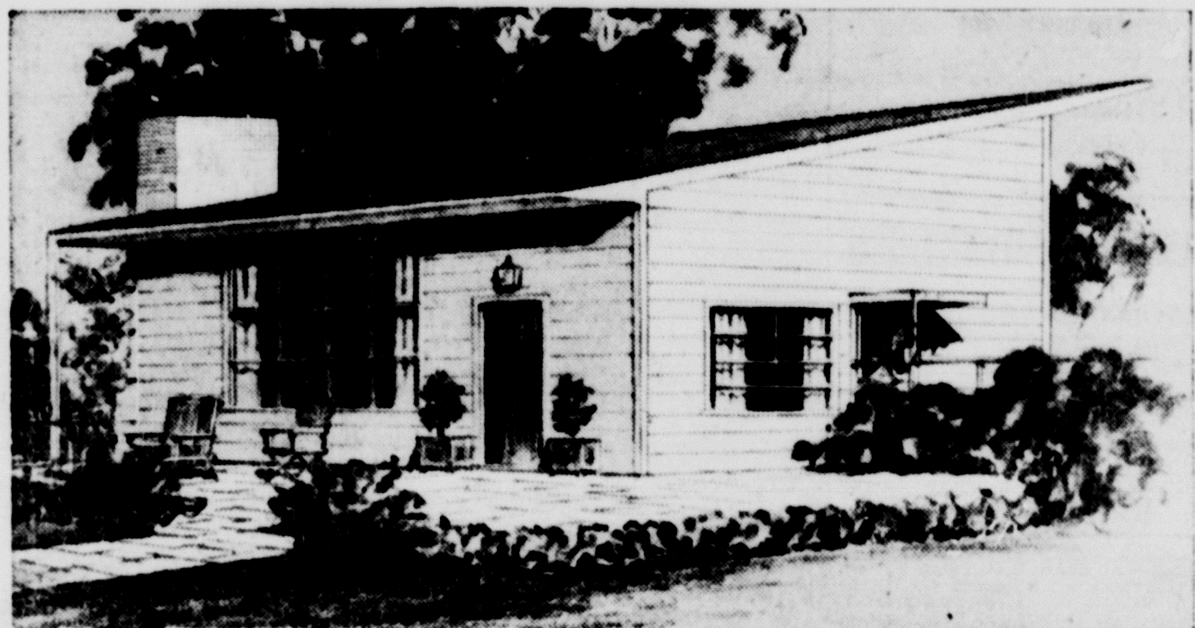

A home that has all the compact advantages of an apartment, yet has also the satisfaction of an "upstairs" and the joy of being a separate and independent residence, is the little dream of a house pictured here.

While its designers decline to make any estimate of its approximate cost, since labor and material costs and conditions vary so greatly in different parts of the country, they do call it a budget house, so it can't be prohibitively expensive.

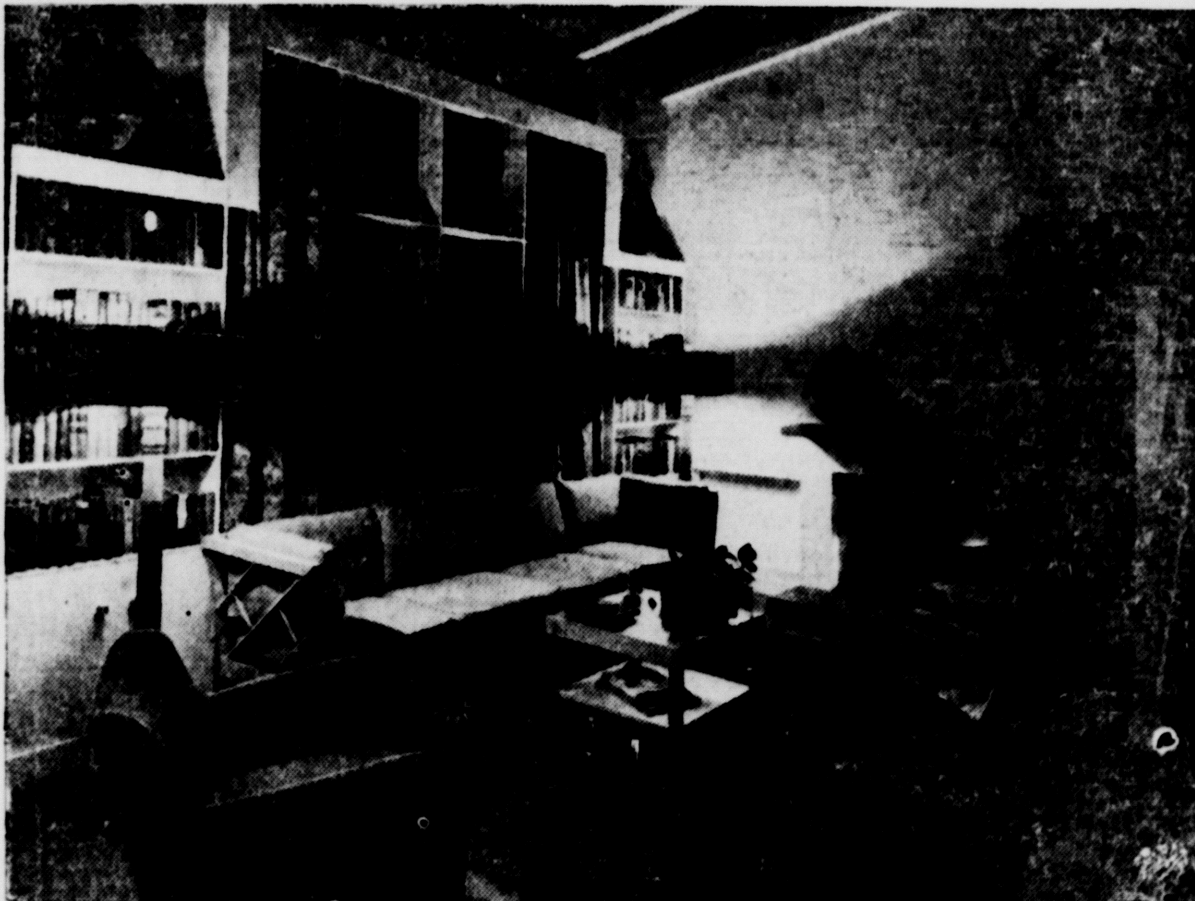

Amazingly enough, the combination living-dining room, complete little kitchen, balcony bedroom, bathroom and four big closets are all contained in a space just 20 by 24 feet. Plenty of windows, including the 12-foot one on the balcony and the long one behind the living room sofa, flood the house with light and sunshine.

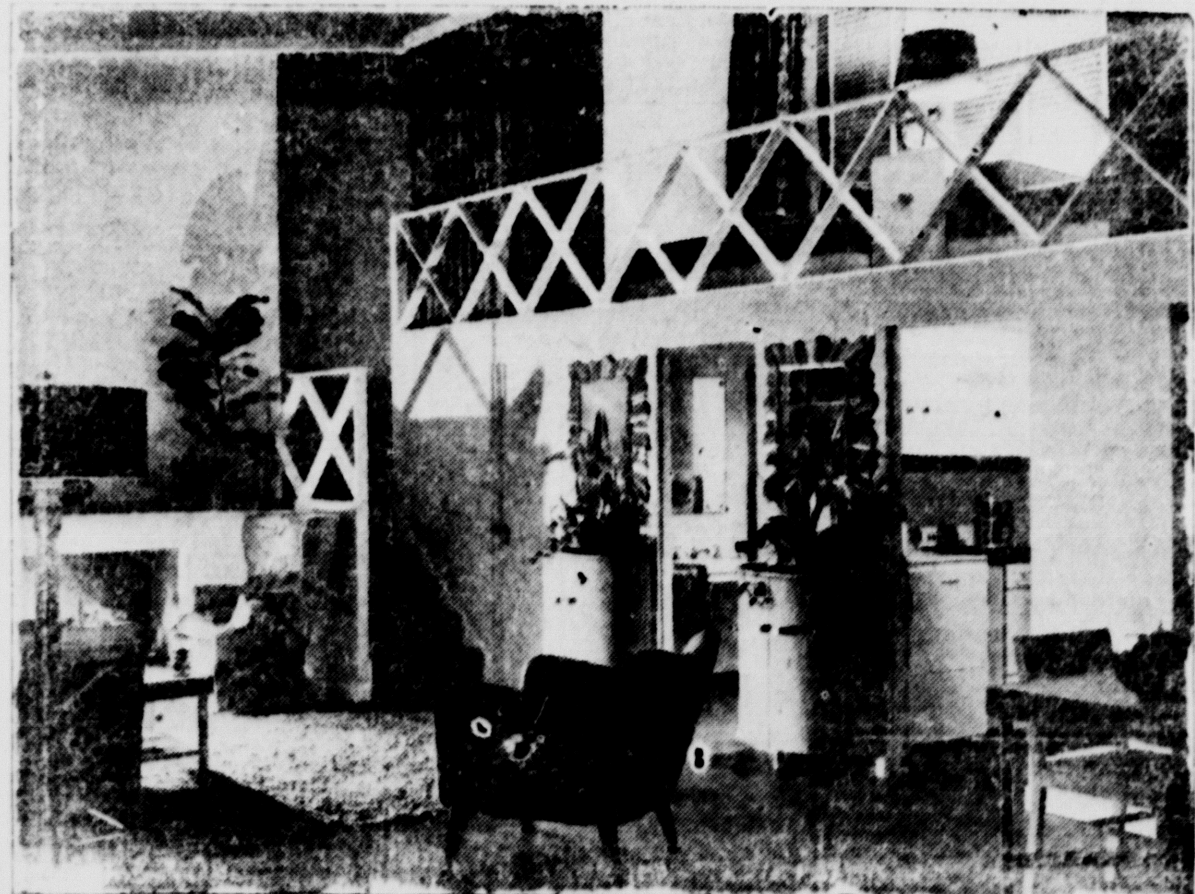

Charmingly modern in appearance, and as practical as it is charming, this unusual little home combines the compact convenience of an apartment and the satisfaction that goes with a completely detached house.

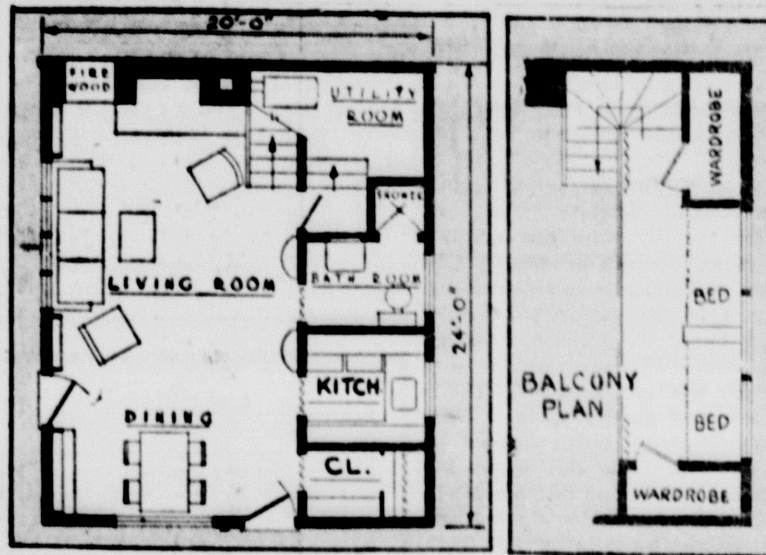

Outside the big living room window, a wide terrace offers opportunity to enjoy sitting in the sun. The door at right leads into the living room.

Setting the color scheme of the living room is the floor covering of turquoise linoleum with insets of chartreuse and coral. Two floor lamps are made from ordinary porch posts, painted in above three colors.

The stair carpet matches the shaggy living room rug in deep turquoise color, both providing an interesting contrast in texture to linoleum floor, used throughout the house to provide unity and spaciousness.

Living-dining room, kitchen, balcony bedroom, bathroom and four big closets are magically included in the over-all space of 20 by 24 feet. Maximum sunshine and light are afforded by generous window space.

Goblins, Pirates Gather For A Birthday Party

Young goblins, elves, pirates and witches on Saturday afternoon helped Elma-Louise Scheffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Scheffey, celebrate her fifth birthday anniversary at her home in Fleetwing Estates.

The rooms were decorated with orange and black crepe paper. Each child received favors, including horns and whistles and baskets of Halloween candy. Refreshments of cake, cookies, ice cream, candy and soda were served. Comedy "movies" formed part of the entertainment.

The children played games, and prizes were awarded to: Nancy Botwright, Denise Smith, Kathleen George and George Johansson. Other children present included: Valerie Holston, "Jay" Carey, Marie Gordon, Gloria Kotnok, Patricia Seeger, Lawrence Paulus, Henry Nagel, Jr., Carole Balken, "Jimmy" Rausch, Robert Kemmerer, "Jackie" Johansson, Virginia Walp, Janice Thompson, Walter Bartle, Jr., Craig Rader, Nancy Botwright, "Bobby" Green, Anita Hyatt, Patricia Hyatt, "Rudy" Scheffey and Mary Scheffey. Elma-Louise received many gifts.

Succulent Broiled Fillets

A FISH TREAT COOKED IN TEN MINUTES

Everyone likes fish fillets — those meaty slices of fish cut lengthwise from the backbone — because fillets are always boneless and require no preparation. There's not a single bit of waste in an economical fish fillet . . . it's all edible and it takes only a few minutes to cook.

Many fish are marketed in the fillet form, but the most popular are haddock, cod and flounder. Fillets are usually cut from fish weighing from two to four pounds. That's why they are so tender. They shouldn't be turned while broiling because the fish is likely to break into small pieces. When cutting the fillet into serving-sized portions, be sure to use a very sharp knife. Moderate heat — about 350° — is necessary to bring out the full, rich flavor of the fish. Avoid the common tendency to overcook fish and everyone will say you are a great cook!

BROILED FILLETS

3 lbs. fillets
1 tsp. minced onion
1 tsp. pepper
2 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
4 tsp. melted butter
2 tsp. minced parsley
1/2 cup bread crumbs

Wipe fillets with damp cloth, cut into serving-sized portions and brush with melted butter. Combine onion, pepper, salt, lemon juice, parsley, and the rest of the melted butter. Pour over fish, sprinkle with bread crumbs, and broil on broiler grid 8 to 10 minutes, basting twice with juice in bottom of pan. Arrange fillets on hot platter and pour remaining sauce over them. Garnish with watercress or parsley, and lemon curls. Serves six.

Lack of Rain Is Becoming Serious

Mr. Greenawalt what he can do about it.

Grass in fields has turned brown and woodland tracts are covered with dry leaves. With the opening small game hunting season yesterday, Mr. Greenawalt said it is important that the hunters exercise care in order to prevent fires on farms.

The dry weather, said Mr. Greenawalt has had good results in that the farmers have been enabled to catch up with their fall work, including the harvesting of corn, seeding of grain and harvesting of apples, although the latter has been about completed.

Towns are also beginning to feel the effects of the drought. Sellersville officials have appealed to the citizens to conserve water because of the low water level at the catch basin.

The situation in Lambertville is also serious. In that New Jersey town one of the large firms is getting its supply from the river instead of the reservoir, where the level is quite low. Residents there have been asked to cut down sharply on consumption, and officials of the Lambertville Water Company said there is enough water in the reservoir to last only several days.

Unless there is a rain soon, they said.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

IN MANY sections of the country, chicken is the traditional main dish for Sunday dinners, and few families can resist the appeal of a hot platter of golden fried chicken set before them.

The A & P Service for Home-Makers suggests Southern-style fried chicken for dinner this Sunday. For a family of four, two chickens weighing two-and-a-half to three pounds each will be required. The butcher will cut them up for you.

In many stores, it is possible to buy all white meat, or all drumsticks, rather than to buy the entire chicken.

Dip the pieces of chicken in a little cold water, sprinkle with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Sauté the chicken in fat, turning from side to side to brown. The fat should be from 375 to 390 degrees. The chicken is done when a fork will slide through to the bone easily.

To complete this meal, serve either rice or whipped potatoes with chicken gravy, green beans, hot rolls or biscuits, sliced tomatoes on lettuce with your favorite salad dressing, and cherry pie.

STRATEGIC RESERVES

RIO DE JANEIRO, (INS) — Recent reports to the Ministry of Agriculture indicate that new radioactive deposits have been discovered in the state of Minas Gerais, Brazil. The war ministry has been informed of the deposits, which probably will be placed immediately under the classification of "strategic material reserves."

NEWTOWN, Nov. 2 — Council Rock's 130-pound team won its third straight game yesterday afternoon with an 8-0 win over the Bordentown Manual Training School's 130 pounders.

"Eddie" Norris scored Council Rock's touchdown in the third quarter. The other two points were the result of a safety in the last period.

Council Rock needs but one more victory to win the 130-pound league composed of St. Francis, Bristol Township, Bordentown and Council Rock. St. Francis remains on Council Rock's schedule.

The winner of the league will receive a trophy donated by the Diamond Sporting Goods Store, of Bristol.

HUNTER TO LOSE SIGHT OF ONE OF HIS EYES

According to reports there was only one serious gunning accident in Bucks County yesterday. This occurred in the Richlandtown area when Walter Weidman, 25, Quakertown, RD 1, was hit in the head by pellets fired by a member of another hunting party.

Weidman was taken to the Quakertown Community Hospital, where his condition is considered serious. According to Dr. H. P. Feigley, Jr., Quakertown, Weidman is going to lose the sight of one eye.

At a meeting of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen held in Doylestown, last evening, it was reported there was gross violation of the hunting laws in the upper end of Bucks County. These violations were blamed on the out-of-county gunners who it was reported violated all sections of the laws.

Reports at the meeting were to the effect that conditions were much better in Lower Bucks County where gunners generally obey the laws.

It is reported that the kill was small.
